Egg-Laying Derby Ended at Antioch Milling Co.

At the cackle of dawn, Tuesday, the great Pullet Derby at the Antioch Milling Co., came to an end when Hen No. 5 laid the first egg and was declared the winner of the race.

Wm. Richards, one of the first to enter the contest to pick the winner, selected Hen No. 5 and missed the exact date by sixteen days, and will be awarded the electric clock.

Frank Dibble, missed the exact date by 20 days but won the second prize, a bun warmer.

Lillian Loescher, came in third to win a pair of kitchen shears.

The race was close all the way, George Wagner, manager of the feed store, said, and interest was increasing as "L-Day" neared. The Derby got under way July 28 when the White rock pullets, 16 weeks old, were placed in a special pen in the Antioch Milling Co. feed store.

During the Derby, all six pullets were fed the same ration—Purina Growers, with Formula "1028" added.

Antioch Minister Hikes 50 Mile in Mountains Of High Olympic Range

A trip into rugged mountain wilderness was told in word received this week from the Rev. G. Richard Tuttle, minister of the Methodist church of Antioch. The snow-capped Olympic mountains located in the northwest corner of the United States in the state of Washington were the object of the journey which was undertaken on foot by the local minister and his father, the Rev. R. A. Anderson minister of the First Methodist Church of Pasco, Washington.

Carrying packs weighing nearly 60 pounds the two were in the wilderness for five days and nights. Traveling part of the time with only the aid of maps and compass they saw only two people in four days and those were government men building a loan-to high in the Cameron basin. Two of the five nights were spent at altitudes of over a mile high without benefit of shelter or protection from temperatures below freezing. Warm sleeping bags and clothing kept the two comfortable in the coldest temperatures.

The trip covering approximately 50 miles of mountainous terrain began at Obstruction Point on Hurricane Ridge at the end of a narrow mountain road located over 6,000 feet high. Here the two men were left by Mrs. Tuttle and Mrs. Anderson who five days later met them near the Dosewallips Ranger Station.

It was reported that the alpine scenery in the little-traveled area was superb and that many pictures in natural color were taken. Although bear and deer were seen they were not as plentiful as expected. In the high meadow country wild flowers were in profusion and some of the climbing was over snow and ice fields. Rev. and Mrs. Tuttle and their two boys are visiting with their families both of whom are ministers in the Pacific Northwest conference of the Methodist church.

Steel Arrives for New Shop Addition to High School; Building Starts

Steel for the new shop addition to the Antioch Township High School arrived Monday and Tuesday and the contractor immediately set a sizable force of men at work putting it into position and continuing construction.

Principal R. E. Edmundson said he expects the work on that section of the building to be completed by Oct. 15.

Plans are proceeding for classes in industrial arts. There will be classes in first year wood working and mechanical drawing under the direction of Melvin Stillson, and in general metals and electric work, taught by Francis Perriague the first and second semesters, while a full semester in each of the four subjects will be given advanced classes.

The wood working shop will be used until the new shop building can be completed, the teachers giving theory until such time as practice work can be given. After the new building is occupied, the wood working shop will be used as a band practice room.

The band in the meanwhile will use the gymnasium.

Village Board Passes $58,581 Tax Levy Law During Special Session

The village board passed the tax levy ordinance in its meeting last Thursday evening setting the amount at $58,581.

The levy this year is slightly higher than last year, but is $6,700 less than the appropriation.

One of the principal items reduced from the appropriation was maintenance and repair of public buildings which was placed at $1,000 instead of $2,500.

Attorney Edward C. Jacobs will file the levy with the Lake county clerk for use in figuring next year's taxes.

Compliance With O. P. S. Only 65 Per Cent In North Shore Villages

Compliance with O. P. S. regulations in Highland Park is not as good in some communities in the Chicago District, Neil J. Linehan, District Director, revealed today.

Linehan's statement came as a result of a survey made earlier this week by O. P. S. representatives in North Shore towns. They found that only 65 per cent of the businesses visited had complied with O. P. S. regulations.

"The 35 per cent who are out of compliance," Mr. Linehan said, "are chiefly in the service trades, such as cleaners and service stations. Moreover, we found that some of them weren't interested."

Linehan pointed out that the visit is part of an O. P. S. project to help business with their problems in complying with regulations. Although it is not part of an enforcement drive, the names of those not in compliance will be turned over to the enforcement division of the agency if no filings are received from these stores within the next two weeks.

The apparent lack of interest was ascribed, in part, by Linehan to the fact that Lake County until recently has been in the Peoria District, and therefore inconvenient for business people. He felt that bringing the area into the Chicago District will make contact much easier for business from now on.

O. P. S. is grateful to local officials and business groups for their cooperation in getting information to business in their communities, Linehan said. He suggests that businessmen can get all the help they need for compliance by stopping at the Chicago District O. P. S. office, 188 West Randolph Street, or calling State 2-3001 for instructions.

Four Persons Killed In Car Crashes Near Antioch in Past Week

Both Accidents on Rte. 21, Rescue Squad Aids the Four Injured

Four persons were killed and two injured in two automobile accidents on Rte. 21 south of Antioch during the past week.

What Antioch Rescue squad members said was the worst accident they ever had handled occurred Sunday evening a mile south of the village in which two women died.

Mrs. Martha Heaney Kisten, 33, of 4415 N. Mozart st., Chicago, died instantly of a broken neck when her car crashed head on into the car driven by Robert Welke, 31, Burlington, Wis., causing the death at 2:30 a.m. Monday of Mrs. Welke. Mr. Welke is recovering from shock and bruises.

The accident sheriff's deputies said, occurred when Mrs. Kisten apparently lost control of her car on a curve and crossed into the opposite lane of the Welke car going north.

Mrs. Welke suffered a skull fracture, broken legs, and internal injuries.

The body of Mrs. Kisten was taken to Chicago for burial and that of Mrs. Welke to Burlington. Mrs. Welke is survived by the husband and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hansen of Burlington.

The Rescue squad was credited with good work in taking care of the injured and removing them to Victory Memorial hospital while sheriff's deputies William Wood and Roger Kane rerouted traffic.

Peter Martin, 66, Maywood real estate man, and Mrs. Kathryn Bredlau, 58, Oak Park, were killed in a collision of cars driven by Martin and Mrs. Bredlau's husband, Dr. Ernest Bredlau on a curve one mile south of Loon Lake at 11 a.m. Friday.

Martin was killed instantly and Mrs. Bredlau died two days later.

The accident occurred when Martin turned around a Weiland Dairy Co. truck on a curve and met the Bredlau car. The two cars side-swiped and one of them struck the truck forcing it off the road. The truck rolled along the embankment leveling trees as it went. The driver escaped injury.

The injured were taken by the Rescue squad to Victory Memorial hospital where Mrs. Bredlau died.

Chicago Man Injures Leg In Collision With Truck

Jack Murphy, 19, 3509 N. Kilpatrick st., Chicago, suffered a dislocated left knee cap of his leg at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday when he fell against the bumper of the truck of Peter Waldweiler in front of the King drug store on Main st.

Murphy, his wife and baby were enroute with their hosts, the Edward Foremans of Channel lake to the lake and had slowed their truck and trailer so that Murphy could jump off to enter the store to buy cigarettes. The force of the moving vehicle threw him so that he struck his knee on the parked truck.

The Antioch Rescue squad was called in taking him to the office of Dr. Calvin F. Midgley to have the injury dressed.

Murphy works for the Hobart Mfg. Co. in Chicago.

Arthur E. Bennett Talks On Lake County Finances

Arthur E. Bennett, county supervisor from Lake Villa, was a guest on "Report to the People" Tuesday morning at 10:30 over WKRS and WKRS-FM.

Bennett gave his views on the economic state of the country and the waste of monies through the present governmental system in the county. The talk by Bennett, described as a fearless fighter, was timely as the August meeting of the county board recently discussed the advisability of a tax referendum to raise a deficit in county funds.

MRS. E. M. HAGGERTY DIES

COMPETITION IS ALL-IMPORTANT

Is competition a really important factor in the oil industry?

You don't need to ask an oil man to answer that question. In a speech made last winter Oscar Chapman, Secretary of the Interior, said: "Competition is the basic reason for the productive vigor of the oil industry. Accordingly, competition should be retained or disturbed as little as possible. . . . It shall be my purpose, as Petroleum Administrator, to use the power entrusted to me, as far as humanly possible, in such a way as to leave at the end of this emergency the same competitive relationships among the units of the oil and gas industry as exist today."

The record of oil during and since World War II fully substantiates Secretary Chapman's views. It is estimated that 22,000,000,000 gallons of oil was needed to conquer Germany alone. The Army and Navy Petroleum Board is authority for the statement that, "not one single military operation was delayed or impeded because of lack of petroleum products." The competitive American oil industry supplied that vast flood to the fighting forces and met every essential civilian need. And today the industry is able to produce and market 25 per cent more oil and oil products than at the peak of World War II.

Quantity isn't the whole story. As the result of the competitive struggles between oil companies in their search for consumer favor, the quality of oil products has been greatly improved. To take one example, two gallons of 1951 gasoline will do the work of three gallons of 1926 gasoline. And the price, excluding taxes, over which the industry has no control, is about the same.

Free competition gives the nation both more production and higher-grade products. Oil is a first class example of that truism.

AGENT OF THE FARMER

Frozen retail prices are dangerous to the farmer. That is the gist of an item by Wheeler McMillen which recently appeared in Farm Journal.

Here is what Editor McMillen said, "Farmers see that if their selling prices are controlled, and their costs keep going up, their chance for profit will go down. Businesses find themselves in the same trouble. During the four weeks after his retail prices were frozen prices went up for eggs, milk powder, butter, cake shortening, lard, and raisins. These increases cost $23,960—about $6,000 a week. Since he could not raise his prices, he was naturally worried! Every baker, butcher, and grocer is a sales and distributing agent for farmers. The agent has to make a profit if he is to keep on selling. . . . Controls mess up everybody's business, and only hide the real causes of inflation."

The logic in this is unassailable. Aggressive, highly competitive retailing is an essential ally of the farmer—as it is of the manufacturer and all the people who work in agriculture and industry. It does everything possible to sell more goods. The very force of competition holds profits to a low figure. But when controls threaten to turn profits into losses, the retailer must draw in his horns. He stocks less goods. He takes no chances that he can avoid. He is no longer a free agent. To an ever-increasing extent, his business is dominated by bureaucrats who know little or nothing about his problems.

A controlled economy hurts everyone—the producer, the worker, and the consumer.

The Antioch Woman's club charity party last Thursday at St. Peter's hall was a big success, with 200 persons participating at 48 tables. More than $370. has been received as profits with not all of the reports made to the committee. All funds will be used to furnish entertainment for disabled veterans at Downey hospital.

Mrs. Jane Breakstone was general chairman of the event assisted by Mesdames Leona Peterson, Anton Novak, Shirley Stanich, Morris Picus, Gertrude Dupre, Janet Brook, Jerrie Olson, M. Wagner, Helen Nelson, and Wendell Nelson.

How to Control Swine Erysipelas

QUESTION: How serious is swine erysipelas?

ANSWER: The infection has spread all over the nation in the last 20 years.

QUESTION: In what form does it appear?

ANSWER: It takes several forms. There is an acute type; and a chronic type. Also, the disease does not limit itself to swine. The same germs can infect turkeys, lambs, and human beings.

QUESTION: What are some findings in the acute form?

ANSWER: Common symptoms in swine are sudden deaths, red blotches on the skin, soreness and arched backs.

QUESTION: How does the chronic form differ from the acute?

ANSWER: The chronic symptoms are lack of gain, lameness, patchy loss of skin, bob tails and unthriftiness.

QUESTION: Can a producer rely on these symptoms?

ANSWER: No. Swine erysipelas

may resemble hog cholera and other diseases. It is very baffling and often does not run true to type. A laboratory examination can be made, however, to help tell if erysipelas is present.

QUESTION: What can a swine raiser do to protect his animals?

ANSWER: 1. Keep newly purchased swine away from the main herd for at least three weeks. 2. Keep a sharp lookout for large joints, or thickened ears among young pigs. 3. Have a veterinarian examine the herd immediately if suspicious symptoms appear.

QUESTION: What about vaccination?

ANSWER: In localities where the disease is prevalent vaccination is a wise, standard practice. However, since the vaccine is a living culture of the causative germ, and is also highly infectious to man, it should be administered by a veterinarian.

Perry and Soybeans
In 1853, when Commodore Matthew Perry sailed from China with the American fleet, he had a vegetable in his sea chest which was to prove of extraordinary character some sixty years later. This vegetable—the soybean—had long been treasured in the Orient as a food. Today it is used in the manufacture of shortenings, bake goods, confectionery, cereal, beverages, paper, animal foods, cosmetics and innumerable other products. The oil from this bean is also used extensively by paint manufacturers in the production of fine paints and varnishes.

Mildew Stains
It's easier to prevent mildew than remove its stains, besides being easier on fabrics! This statement comes from the textile experts at the American Institute of Laundering, research and educational center for the laundering and textile industries, who say that no magic formula has yet been devised for removal of the grayish stains caused by the parasite that feeds on warm, damp fabrics. Since damage usually results from even scientific efforts to remove mildew stains, they advise housewives to store clean fabrics away dry.

Flat Paint Reflects Light Evenly
From a mat or non-glazed surface, light is reflected in a uniform manner in all directions. For this reason flat paint is advisable for most rooms. The exceptions are the rooms which are frequently subject to steam or grease—the bathroom and kitchen, in other words. In these rooms it is more desirable to have the gloss-type finishes which can be frequently washed than to avoid the high lights.

Smart Farmers
Farmers were first to suspect that barberry bushes were responsible for stem rust of small-grain crops—more than 300 years ago. In France, in 1660, the first law was passed against these rust-spreading plants. Similar laws were passed in Connecticut in 1728, Massachusetts in 1775, and Rhode Island in 1768.

Flawless Stone
Of all precious stones, the aquamarine is found in the largest flawless crystals. The largest gem ever found was a 220-pound aquamarine the size of a nail keg uncovered near the Brazilian village of Marambala in 1910, says the National Geographic Society. It yielded 200,000 carats of cut gem stones.

Return of Welsh 'Exiles' Moving Musical Rite

CARDIFF, Wales—The "land of foreigners" is preparing a golden voiced welcome for an unparalleled number of its "exiles" in 1951.

The "land of foreigners," as it you didn't know, is the Principality of Wales. The somewhat unkind term is the one by which the mountainous, mysterious land was known to the Anglo-Saxons for centuries after they, foreigners themselves, drove King Arthur and his native British knights into the hills, in spite of everything Merlin could do. The "exiles," of course, are any Welshmen unfortunate enough to live in more barbarous, uncouth lands and, as far as the Welsh are concerned, that includes England, too.

The factor that made Wales "the land of the foreigners"—its inaccessibility for centuries—had an incidental effect which makes it one of the most interesting countries in the world today. To a greater extent than any of the other diverse peoples who make up the British population, the Welsh have preserved an ancient culture and language almost completely uncorrupted by outside influences. To visit the Eisteddfod, the great national festival of Wales, which will begin August 6 this year, is to be transported to the almost legendary world of 1,500 years ago.

Much Ceremony

The welcome to the exiles is one of the most moving of the traditional ceremonies of the Eisteddfod. The exiles, numbering more than a thousand, and headed by the Leader of the Welsh Exiles, are conducted to the stage in a ceremonial procession.

After the ritual welcome, whose origin is lost in the mists of antiquity, the whole gathering joins in the singing of Welsh hymns and folk tunes. Since there are ordinarily more than 30,000 people present and since each of them, as are all Welshmen, was "born with a thrush in his throat," the great paean is an unforgettable musical experience.

This year, according to the British Travel Association, the Eisteddfod takes on added significance, for it has been designated one of the 29 major arts festivals being held as part of the Festival of Britain.

It's a safe bet that few of the others will rival it in the eyes of the visitor. The oldest cultural event of its kind in the world, it dates back in more or less its present form to the Twelfth Century, although it is believed that gatherings of the bards may have been held as early as the Fifth Century.

Cultural Expression

There's much more to the Eisteddfod than singing. It is the highest expression of the Welsh cultural tradition. Each day for a week, there are competitions between poets and prose writers, singers, musicians and artists of all kinds. In the evenings there are concerts by the magnificent choir of 700 voices, which has been training for two years for the occasion. This year the choir, drawn from the region of Llanrwst, the site of the 1951 Eisteddfod, will feature Dvorak's Sabat Mater and Brahms' Requiem.

The musical and dramatic events will be interspersed with rituals and ceremonials performed by bards in flowing white and green robes. They will be culminated by the Chieftain of the Bard (The Welsh Poet Laureate for the year).

The ancient Eisteddfod has recently acquired a young and lusty brother in the Llangollen International Eisteddfod which will be held for the fifth time this year, during the week beginning July 3. The National Eisteddfod is strictly Welsh in character; the Llangollen festival annually brings together outstanding choral and folk-dancing groups from all parts of the world. In their picturesque national costumes, they compete for a variety of prizes during the day and join together in the evenings for informal concerts and dances.

Satisfied Customers Keep Restaurant in Business

BLUEFIELD, Va.—The magic of good cooking was exhibited here recently.

Pete Loizos now owns a fashionable, well equipped restaurant because citizens of Bluefield like his cooking. Pete once owned a $14,000 establishment across the line in Bluefield, W. Va., but it didn't succeed. He lost his lease and was forced to move.

A group of satisfied customers came to the rescue. They raised $14,000 and turned it over to Loizos for stock in a new restaurant. Pete started a new restaurant 50 feet over the state line in suburban Bluefield. He borrowed $70,000 from the bank and set himself up right.

Skeptics said Pete had another failure on his hands because the restaurant was so far from downtown, but in 18 months he had paid back $30,000 of the bank loan. Last year Pete gave a dinner for all those who had contributed to the $14,000 ante. They surprised him by turning over all their stock in his restaurant—no strings attached. Pete's place looks like a sure hit.

Wrestling

Big Humphrey, the colorful eastern grappler, who is a character out of the cartoon strip Joe Palooka, is to tangle with Leon Kirilenko the Mad Russian next Friday night in the Lake County Stadium in Round Lake Park.

Big Humphrey, with bright red hair and weighing 300 pounds, has been a riot as a wrestler in the south and west. He tours the nation via bicycle with his one room apartment attached as a trailer.

Leon Kirilenko, who never did have a sense of humor, can see nothing funny about his rival and as a result will be a turbulent wrestler when he faces Big Humphrey.

Fans who have watched Kirilenko in action know that he pulls no punches in his wrestling endeavors. He has created many angry scenes in his matches and Fred Kohler will have to warn him to stay within the rules next Friday night.

Although Big Humphrey will have a distinct weight advantage over Leon, the latter has speed and mat knowledge to overcome this deficiency. The match will be a two out of three fall verdict with a sixty minute time limit.

In another star bout on the card,

Al Szasz, of St. Louis is to clash with Balk Estes, of Munster, Indiana. This bout pits the clever Szasz against power and stamina. Szasz has chalked up a splendid record in Chicago matches and fans will see a determined wrestler in Al, who hopes to upset Estes and bid for future windup honors.

An Australian Tag team match on Friday's card has George Bruckman of Washington and Karl Gray, of Milwaukee facing Bob Clay, the brilliant Oklahoma youngster and Chester Hayes, a newcomer to the Lakes area.

Bruckman and Gray are rugged wrestlers. They have both been unethical in their mid-west matches, but it is the consensus of opinion that if they start their unruly methods their rivals will also use hard boiled tactics, thus giving the fans one of the exciting clashes of the season.
